For Croup—Mothers—Always Keep this Handy

The day of the Croup scare is over for those parents who wisely keep Foleys' Honey and Tar Compound in the home ready for instant use.

W. C. Allen, Rosely, Mo., writes: "I have raised a family of four children, and have used Foleys' Honey and Tar Compound with every one of them. I find it the best cough and croup medicine I have ever used. It has saved my child eight or ten times, and I can recommend it for croup."

If toward midnight the little ones grow hoarse or croupy, if their breathing becomes wheezy and stuffy, give them Foleys' Honey and Tar Compound promptly and it will ward off an attack of croup.

If you are awakened by the hoarse, raspy cough that means croup, give Foleys' Honey and Tar Compound at once. It will ease the little sufferers quickly, out the tickling choking phlegm, and soon they will have easy breathing and peaceful quiet sleep.

FUNERAL

Mrs. Lyman Button.

The funeral services of Mrs. Helen Button, widow of Lyman Button of Westminster in Canterbury, were held Wednesday at 11 a. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Beecher Brown on Black Hill. Mrs. Button was Susan Helen Smith, daughter of Capt. Walter and Susanna Lyon Smith. She was born Feb. 15, 1838, in the old Walker Smith house at Gay Head. In 1863 she married Lyman Button, who died June 8, 1908. In early life she joined the East Main street Methodist church, of Norwich, transferring her membership later to the Allen street Methodist church of New Bedford. She was buried in the old Winchester cemetery where were also buried her husband, her father and mother, her grandparents and great-grandparents. It was especially fitting that at the grave there should be sung the beautiful old hymn "Gathering Home" sung also eight years ago at her husband's funeral.

The singers were Mr. and Mrs. Hart Goff, and Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, life long friends and neighbors.

Mrs. Button was a woman of marked honesty and uprightness of character, cheerfulness of disposition and with a keen sense of humor which never deserted her throughout a long and weary illness. She is survived by one brother, Columbus Smith of Canterbury, a sister, Mrs. Charles Pellet of Danielson, a daughter, Mrs. H. Beecher Brown and four grandchildren, Ralph, Roger, Stanley and Helen Brown of Black Hill. Services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. M. H. James of Canterbury Green.
